

house for sale Finestrat, Marina Baixa

I would like my dream house to be spacious, both inside and out, and located in the most favorable climate in the world, although that would be very difficult. I wish to share the property with my parents or grandparents, and have my cousins come over every weekend. That way, during the hottest months, we could dive into the private pool while my mother, who is a culinary expert, takes care of the barbecue in the large garden.~~I would like my new home to have a fairly large living-dining room with walls lined with our photos, and several double bedrooms (about three) with built-in wardrobes that take up an entire wall. I would also love to have plenty of space for a nice walk-in closet, the highest quality finishes, and one of those open-plan kitchens with a breakfast bar for family wine evenings.~~I also wish to wake up every day to natural light streaming through the tall glass windows surrounding the house, and to have the best views, while being surrounded by nature without losing easy access to any services.~~I imagine these things because that's what finding the perfect home is all about—the one that has everything you dream of. And I know it's possible because properties like this detached villa located in the mountainous area of Finestrat, Alicante, prove it. A house that offers everything and more than expected, even the most difficult to find.
