

terraced house for sale Olvera, Sierra De Cádiz

Lo Its not often we get a special house like Under the Stars, situated in the principle street in Olvera, on the way to the church and castle but its the outside space that makes this house really special. In need of total renovation as this beautiful property has fallen into disrepair over the years , but investment and imagination would really bring out the best this property has to offer .It's the perfect location for a business ,restaurant , bar or cafe on ground floor and accommodation for owner or as rural tourism above , with a patio area out the front and lots of scope to read for creating really beautiful seating areas too .Outside to the front of this lovely family home for sale in Spain is a gated seating area, perfect for watching the world go by. The house has many original features. A large entrance way leads you back in time to a house that probably hasn't changed much over the years. Downstairs the house is generously laid out with large lounge to the front, formal dining room, entrance hall, nice sized kitchen and summer room leading out on to the patio and gardens at the back. Upstairs is the biggest bathroom I've seen in a while, generous bedrooms 2/3 and another door out the real gem of this property. Throughout there are details of Andalusian charm with arches, tile surrounds and that wonderful bathroom, large windows allow lots of light and the raised off street level allows for views from the windows. Outside there are various levels of gardens, patios and outhouses, the views up to literally under the magnificent Castle - so close it feels like you could actually touch it! The views towards the mountains are just as pleasant with also stunning views of the church, it really is a special property with lots of options to have wonderful patios, and gardens making the best of outside living in this wonderful sunny climate, with lots of options for shade.
