

terraced house for sale Puntalón, Costa Tropical

I am selling a farmhouse with a 12-acre estate, a large portion of which is planted with avocado trees, and the rest with a variety of subtropical plants such as papaya, mango, and prickly pear, all in full production. It includes a converted farm building with two bedrooms, an open-plan kitchen and living room, a bathroom, and a covered patio equipped with a barbecue and grill. The property also retains the old concrete water tank, which is no longer used because water is now supplied directly from the main source; it could be converted into a small outbuilding.

For confidentiality reasons, the address provided is for reference only. The exact location will be given upon scheduling the first visit.

Price: €300,000
